

Early Childhood and Family Services System

Iowa’s current Early Childhood Iowa (ECI) structure, along with early intervention and support activities, limit the state’s ability to effectively coordinate among providers and maximize available state and federal funding. This lack of alignment reduces the quality and reach of services for children and families. Without a clear, statewide accountability framework, access to core services varies by county leading to gaps that weaken the overall impact of early childhood and family services programs.

To address these challenges, the Iowa Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is proposing the development of an aligned Early Childhood and Family Services System that will ensure all Iowans receive consistent, high-quality services while making the most effective use of state and federal funding.

The Case for Early Childhood and Family Services Alignment

- Lack of transparency and accountability in the delivery of activities at the local level leading to inefficient and ineffective use of state and federal funding.
- Funding inconsistencies and missed opportunities to draw down additional federal funds.
- Great variability in early intervention and support activities offered from local area to local area, similar to what was experienced with mental health and disability services regions prior to the development of the Behavioral Health Service System.
- State and local boards’ inability to manage and provide oversight of state general fund dollars and critical early childhood and early intervention programs.

A New Early Childhood and Family Services System will:

- Reduce administrative costs and maximize funding by allowing HHS to send $3 million back to the state general fund and create an additional $6 million in federal match revenue.
- Eliminate redundancies and inconsistencies.
- Ensure consistent oversight and management of state and federally funded programs, and
- Allow HHS to direct funding toward high-impact, evidence-based strategies designed to improve outcomes for children and families.
