The ECI State Office will accept mailed (hard copy) or electronic appeals.

ECI State Board Action on the Appeal

- When the ECI State Board receives an appeal, the ECI State board chair will select three of the six members on the Appeals Committee to review the appeal. The board chair will review conflict of interest issues, such as geographic or other identified conflicts, when selecting the three members. The ECI State Office will provide staffing to this committee.
- As part of the appeal review process, one or more representatives of the ECI area board that submitted the appeal must meet face to face or via electronic means with the committee.
- After reviewing the information and supportive documentation, the committee will submit a written recommendation to the ECI State Board. The recommendation will identify if the committee supports or denies the ECI area board's appeal and provide justification for the recommendation. The ECI State Office will include the written recommendation in the ECI State Board meeting materials distributed prior to the meeting.
- The ECI State Board will review the committee's recommendation and make a decision on the appeal.
- The ECI State Board will notify the ECI area board in writing of its decision within 10 working days.
- The ECI State Board's decision is final.
If the ECI area board disagrees with the ECI State Board's decision on the appeal and requests a review, the ECI area board may file a petition through the judicial system.
