Sensitive Subjects

As a partner in the foster care or adoption team, you may find that the special circumstances of the child placed in your home will require that you talk with the child or child welfare workers about what we call “sensitive subjects.” These sensitive subjects concern things about which people don’t often talk about. In foster care and adoption work, these sensitive subjects may be about separation, divorce, death, sexual issues including sexual abuse, mental illness, angry emotions, sad emotions, financial matters, and the use of alcohol or drugs.

Because we are making a very important decision together about your family’s fostering and possibly adopting, we will be discussing subjects that often are not discussed outside the family. We don’t want to offend you or make you feel uncomfortable, but we do need to know in order to help you and us in the decision-making process. With this explanation in mind, then, please answer the questions in the profile as openly and as honestly as you can. Thank you.

Motivation and Personal Loss

1. What has initially brought you or motivated you to your decision to apply to become a foster or adoptive parent?

2. What type of experience do you have with children, either with children you are currently parenting or with other children?

3. Have you ever applied to become a foster or an adoptive parent?

   ☐ Yes ☐ No

   If yes, please indicate the date and the agency you applied to.

4. Have you contacted another agency to become a foster or adoptive parent?

☐ Yes ☐ No

Have you had a home study completed for you in the past?

☐ Yes ☐ No

If yes, please indicate if it was a foster parent home study or an adoption home study and who completed the home study.

Special Projects

Attach any pictures to the back of your profile.

1. Please give us a picture of you and all members of your household (pets, too, if possible). We would like a picture of your house too, so you may want your picture to be in front of your house, or give us a second photo of the house itself. These photos may be used to prepare a child who would come to your family.

2. Scrapbook (optional). Many foster and adoptive families have found another fun way to help prepare a child to move into their homes. The family makes a scrapbook or album with pictures of where family members and the child would sleep, eat, play, etc. Notes here and there might tell what the family does for fun or where the child will go to school. This album can really help you and the child welfare worker make the placement less scary for the child and is helpful for any preplacement visits you may have with the child. Why not start yours today?

My Opinion

Dear _____:

Hello. I am a child welfare worker from the Department of Human Services, a place that helps children and families. My job is to find families for children whose parents can't take care of them. Your parents have talked with you about having such a child come to live in your home. I am going to try to find the child who would fit into your family.

You can help me to do this by telling me something about yourself. Would you please answer the questions on this next page so that I can learn more about you?

Thank you for helping me.

Sincerely,

1. Please give five words that describe your personality.

2. Please give five words that describe how you look.

My Opinion

Dear _____:

Hello. My job is to find families for children whose parents can't take care of them. Your parents have talked with you about having such a child come to live in your home. I am going to try to find the child who would fit into your family.

You can help me to do this by telling me something about yourself and your family. You can tell me in one of two ways.

You can draw a picture of you, your house, and your family. In this picture, would you please draw in the new child or children who would be coming to live with you?

OR

You can write a story about you, your home, and your family. Would you please include the new child in your story?

Please write your story or draw your picture on the back of this page. Thanks!

Sincerely,
