

Medical Evaluation and Respirator Fit Testing Providers in Iowa

Healthcare personnel who provide patient care or support the delivery of healthcare may potentially be exposed to aerosol transmissible diseases, disinfectants, or other potentially harmful substances during the course of their work. To ensure adequate protection the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) requires workers are first medically cleared AND then properly fit tested to wear a N95 or N99 respirator and that this process is repeated annually (29 CFR 1910.134). This helps ensure a mask can be safely worn and seals properly before it is used in the workplace.

Depending on the capabilities of facility's occupational safety program, Qualitative Fit Testing (QLFT) may be available in-house. Quantitative Fit Testing (QNFT) requires a specialized machine and is offered at various clinics throughout Iowa. The following lists clinics in Iowa that offer either QLFT, QNFT, or both.
