

Helpful questions for determining what surveillance and screening tools a practice is using

	Helpful Discussion Questions to get to know the needs of your engaged practice	By learning more about the needs of the practice, a Site Coordinator will be prepared to help with (or do) the following:
1	Can you describe the components of a typical well-visit?	Learn about areas where the practice is strong, and areas where the practice may need assistance.
2	Are there typical developmental questions providers ask at every well-child visit? What Surveillance tool is being used?	Learn more about whether or not surveillance is a part of the well-visit process and how often surveillance is completed.
3	Do these include questions about developmental milestones and/or social and environmental factors?	Learn more about what areas of concern the practice is focused on addressing in their birth to age five patient population and their families. This helps with knowing what resources 1st Five might assist with providing their birth to age five patients.
4	Are there developmental screenings performed at any of the well-visits? Examples would be the ASQ, ASQ:SE, M-CHAT-R/F. If so, how often are these given?	Learn more about whether screening is a component of the well-visit process, and how often, and when screening is completed.
5	For family medicine practices - Is there one main provider that serves the birth to age five population seen at the practice? Or do a number of providers see children?	Learn more about which providers might be a potential provider champion to advocate for developmental screening in well-visits. Site Coordinators may consider training these providers first.
6	When a developmental concern is identified during a well-visit how are referrals handled?	Learn about how the practice identifies and manages developmental referrals for children birth to age five. This also provides insight into internal partners that might be helpful to the Site Coordinator i.e internal referral coordinators, social workers, internal care coordinators, that may help determine a referral plan for when to refer to 1st Five versus using internal supports.
7	Are there regularly scheduled practice meetings with providers and nurses where information is shared?	Learn more about potential opportunities for training spaces and times for both the providers and the nurses in a practice.
8	What's the best way to connect with your practice point-of-contact, and the provider champion?	Learn helpful contact information for your practice point of contract and provider champion (emails and direct phone numbers, times of day or days of the week when they can respond, etc.).
