This guide is designed as a resource to individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities, and their guardians and family members, in finding the information and supports they may need. It may also be helpful to stakeholders throughout the Iowa service delivery system to better identify and address gaps in resources, or otherwise assist persons living at Woodward or Glenwood State Resource Center or in the community in accessing needed services and supports. Please share this guide with anyone who may benefit from its contents.

Ready Access to Useful Information
Sometimes you just don’t know where to start or who to call. We have tried to include enough information about each resource in this guide so that you can make an informed decision about which entities may be able to assist with any particular need. You can also use this guide as a reference to learn about services, supports, agencies, and organizations that you had not previously known were available.

We also know that many organizations now rely heavily on providing information online, and that not everyone has easy access to internet services or is entirely comfortable with finding information online. While we have provided web addresses links to most all of the resources included here, we have also tried to provide telephone numbers, office or mailing addresses, and any other means of access available.

This guide will be posted and publicly available on the Iowa Department of Human Services website and may be publicly posted by entities throughout the state. If you need a printed copy of the guide, you may print this document from your computer or contact:

This document was developed through a collaborative partnership between the Iowa Department of Human Services, The Iowa Developmental Disabilities Council (DD Council), the University of Iowa’s Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (UCEDD), and the Money Follows the Person Program. This could not have been accomplished without the cooperation, support, and assistance from our partners and other stakeholders, including the Glenwood and Woodward State Resource Centers, MHDS Office of Facility Support, and MHDS Community Services and Planning Bureau.

ASK Resource Center

ASK Resource Center is a statewide nonprofit organization that provides no-cost training, resources, and one-on-one support for individuals with disabilities, their families, and the people who serve them. ASK is a source of education, advocacy, and resources for parents and families in navigating the education and health systems. ASK includes the following projects that focus on special education, health care, disability rights, peer support, training, and empowerment:

Parent Training & Information (PTI) Center: ASK serves as the state of Iowa’s Parent Training & Information Center. The focus of the PTI is to help parents, families, and students with disabilities understand their civil rights regarding early intervention services and special education supports so that they can be strong, effective advocates.

Family-to-Family Health Information (F2F): ASK serves as the state of Iowa’s Family-to-Family Health Information Center. F2F provides a central source for families of children and young adults with special health care needs and disabilities to obtain supports, advocacy, and information and works to enhance access to quality health care and community services.

Early Hearing Detection & Intervention (EHDI): ASK was awarded a grant from the Iowa Department of Public Health to collaborate with EHDI and the Iowa Newborn Screening program to support Iowa families impacted by deafness or hearing loss. ASK provides support services for families of children diagnosed as deaf or hard of hearing and is working to build a statewide network of trained Deaf Mentors.

Conflict Resolution: Families of children with disabilities often need to come to the table with professionals to address planning for their children’s needs. Differences in opinion and perspective sometimes lead to conflict and families may need assistance or support in addressing conflict. ASK offers a project called RESPECT Training, which focuses on building and maintaining solid foundations for relationships, and on providing options to support conflict resolution at the earliest stages possible. Browse the ASK events page for upcoming RESPECT trainings across the state.

Post-Secondary Transition: Planning for the future and setting high expectations for youth with disabilities can be challenging for families. Adult services and supports often look very different than what were available during the school years. The ASK Transition project is designed to help families understand the importance of setting high expectations and to give them the knowledge and skills they need to achieve positive outcomes for their kids in regard to living, learning, and working after high school.
Together We Can Conference: The Together We Can Conference is an annual statewide conference which brings families and professionals from across the state of Iowa together for a full day of learning and networking with families, providers, advocates, and more.

ASK Resource Center is a member of the Parent to Parent USA Alliance, and also serves as Iowa’s Family Voices State Affiliate Organization.

Assistive Technology Center (Easterseals of Iowa)
The Easterseals Iowa Assistive Technology Program offers equipment loans, a demonstration center, a lending library and a used equipment referral service to help Iowans learn about and access the assistive technology (AT) they need as part of their daily lives to learn, work, play, and participate in community life safely and independently.

Assistive Technology (AT) is defined as any piece of equipment, product system or service used to increase, maintain, and/or improve functional capabilities of individuals with disabilities or limitations. This term can refer to any type of assistive, adaptive, or rehabilitative device, along with the process of using these devices. Assistive technology can range from low tech to high tech devices depending on the individual's needs and their given environment.

Watch video demonstrations of assistive technology on YouTube at: https://www.youtube.com/user/EasterSealsIowaAT

The use of assistive technology is appropriate when there is a barrier to accomplishing an activity of daily living. Assistive technology offers a possible solution that may help provide individuals with more independence and prevent additional harm or injury. The use of assistive technology is individualized to each person given their specific abilities, needs, and environment.

Since assistive technology is such a broad term and has many variations, the best way to explore these options is to call Easterseals Iowa Assistive Technology Program at 1-866-866-8782 (toll-free) or 515-289-4069 (TTY). A team member will support you in identifying possible solutions that may assist a specific need. A team member can also provide demonstrations so the individual will be able to learn how to use the device(s). The Lending Library allows an individual to try devices free for 30 days allowing the individual to decide if a particular device will work well for them before they decide to purchase it. If applicable, the Durable Medical Equipment (DME) program has available recycled and refurbished devices for a loan as well.

Visit www.iowaat.org for more information and additional resources.

Disability Rights IOWA (DRI)

Disability Rights IOWA (DRI) (formerly Iowa Protection & Advocacy) provides self-advocacy, education, non-legal advocacy and legal and systems advocacy to people with disabilities that have faced discrimination, been denied services, or faced abuse. DRI aims to defend and promote the human and legal rights of Iowans who have disabilities and mental illness. They promote safety, opportunity, access, and self-determination through:

- Self-advocacy education, information and referral
- Non-legal advocacy
- Legal and systems advocacy

Disability Rights IOWA helps people with disabilities, including mental illness, deal with discrimination. All DRI services are free as long as a callers’ issues relate to their disability or mental illness.

Problems DRI deals with may include abuse, neglect, education, employment, housing, or denial of services.

All calls to DRI go through the same intake process, but people who call are helped according to the annual areas of focus set by the Board. And callers receive different levels of help depending on the problem and how it fits into the annual areas of focus. If DRI is not able to provide direct help, we will refer the caller to another agency that can help. This type of assistance is called Information and Referral.

When DRI can offer direct help, they always try to solve problems in the simplest way. In addition to providing direct help, DRI advocates are also trained to help callers work through problems and develop self-advocacy skills. Administrative and legal help are used when other strategies have not worked, and the issue fully meets the annual areas of focus set by the Board. Establishing annual areas of focus helps us focus our limited resources. Specific areas of focus may change from year to year but we are always dedicated to helping people with disabilities and mental illness.

Family and Educator Partnerships (FEP)

Family and Educator Partnerships (FEP) is a program of the Iowa Department of Education that provides services and supports for families with children with Individualized Education Plans (IEPs) and the educators who teach them in school. The FEP provides a unique opportunity for parents and educators to build partnerships to improve educational programs for children and young adults with special needs.

The FEP is staffed by a family coordinator who brings the perspective of a parent with a child having special needs and an educator coordinator who brings the perspective of an educator, who work collaboratively.

Each of Iowa’s Area Education Agencies (AEAs) have an FEP team to guide the program within the AEA. They collaborate directly with parents, local education agencies, and agencies outside the educational system.

FEP coordinators:

► Facilitate understanding of special education including family/student rights and responsibilities
► Support families and educators through personal, phone, email contact, including attending Individual Family Services Plan (IFSP) and Individualized Education Program (IEP) meetings
► Provide assistance preparing for IFSP to IEP and post-secondary transition
► Support communication between home and school to enhance family and educator partnerships
► Link family and educators to services within the AEA and the community
► Provide information and understanding regarding educational processes

Family Navigators (Child Health Specialty Clinics)

Family Navigators is a program of Child Health Specialty Clinics. Navigators are trained staff members who are also the parent or primary caregiver of a child with special health care needs. Many families new to the world of special health care diagnoses, or going through new challenges, find that talking with another family member, someone who has “been there,” helps.

Family Navigators are parents or caregivers who have:

- Had similar challenges
- Felt the same feelings of grief, sadness, loss, and joy
- Found ways to take care of themselves and their families

Family Navigators can help families lower their stress so they can manage their child’s care a little more easily. They work with families to provide:

- Emotional support
- Systems navigation

Iowa Centers for Independent Living (CIL)

Iowa has six Centers for Independent Living (CILs). They are not residential facilities—they work to eliminate the institutional and facility bias in long term supports for people with disabilities. CILs are unique in that people with disabilities must comprise over half of their governing boards and over half of the CIL staff.

CILs are run for people with disabilities, by people with disabilities. The federal government certifies centers in compliance with the Independent Living principles and standards in the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, which makes them eligible for federal funding.

Federal standards require CILs to be responsive to their local communities, to provide their services to anyone regardless of their disability type, to work with consumers to achieve their goals, and to manage their resources to achieve those goals.

ALL CENTERS PROVIDE FIVE CORE SERVICES
- Information and Referral
- Independent Living Skills Training
- Peer Support Counseling
- Individual and Systems Advocacy
Transition Services – which include transitioning youth from high school into post-secondary education, training, and employment and transitioning individuals with disabilities out of residential facilities and back into community living.

Mental Health and Disability Services (MHDS) Regions

Iowa’s community-based, person-centered mental health and disability services system provides locally delivered services, regionally managed with statewide standards. Local access to mental health and disability services for adults is provided either by counties organized into a regional service system or by an individual county that is exempted from joining a region. Adult residents of Iowa have access to mental health and disability services regardless of where they live in the state.

Regional leaders, guided by the regional management plan, coordinate quality community services that support individuals with disabilities in obtaining their maximum independence. The regions fund certain non-Medicaid services, which may be available to individuals who don’t qualify for Medicaid, who haven’t yet been approved, are on the waiver waiting list, or who are on Medicaid but cannot get all of their needs met through Medicaid services.

The regional administrator or disability services coordinators in each region are also good sources of information about providers, resources, and programs available in their area.

Mental Health First Aid Training

Mental Health First Aid is a public education program that helps people identify, understand, and respond to signs of mental illnesses and substance use disorders. Mental Health First Aid USA is managed, operated, and disseminated by three national authorities: the National Council for Community Behavioral Healthcare, the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, and the Missouri Department of Mental Health.

In Iowa, Mental Health First Aid is coordinated by the Iowa Department of Human Services, Division of Mental Health and Disability Services. Iowa currently has 90 instructors statewide.

Mental Health First Aid is offered in the form of an interactive 8-hour course that presents an overview of mental illness and substance use disorders and introduces participants to risk factors and warning signs of mental health problems, builds understanding of their impact, and overviews common treatments. Those who take the course learn skills, resources and knowledge to help an individual in crisis connect with appropriate professional, peer, social, and self-help care.

Groups of individuals who have benefited from MHFA include: primary care professionals, employers and business leaders, faith communities, school personnel and educators, state police and corrections officers, nursing home staff, mental health authorities, state policymakers, volunteers, young people, families and the general public.
