Metric 1 Notes

For Metric 1b - There are some applications that we can tell are specifically for disability-related coverage. However, some applications we cannot know that they are actually disability-related until a worker processes the application. Therefore some of the applications counted in Metric 1a will ultimately end up being for disability-related coverage.

For Metric 2, we are counting individuals. Although we conduct renewals at the household level, reporting the outcomes will be easier at an individual level.

The average time expected between the initiation of a renewal and the final determination is 90 days.
